MEDIA INFORMATION

TO THE MEDIA

Welcome to the 12th season of Monarchs basketball. The Monarchs media relations department will do everything possible to assist you in your coverage of the team during the 2008 WNBA season. If we can ever be of any assistance, please do not hesitate to call on us. In an effort to continue to provide a professional working environment, we have established the following media guidelines.

CREDENTIALS

Single game press credentials can be reserved by accredited media members via e-mail (Brutlag@arcoarena. com) until 24 hours prior to the requested game and by 5 p.m. Friday for all weekend and Monday games (no exceptions). Media members covering the Monarchs on a regular basis will be issued full season credentials, but are still required to reserve seating for all games via phone (916-928-8112) or e-mail (Brutlag@arcoarena.com) to the media relations office by the above mentioned deadline. Please confirm your request prior to arriving at the game. A request does not guarantee a credential. Credentials will allow working media members entry into ARCO Arena, while also providing reserved press seating and access to both team locker rooms and the media press room. In all cases, credentials are non-transferable and any unauthorized use will subject the bearer to ejection from ARCO Arena and forfeiture of the credential. All single game credentials may be picked up beginning two hours prior to game time at the media check-in table located at the Southeast security entrance of ARCO Arena.

PRESS ROOM

The Monarchs press room is located on the Operations Level, East side of the Arena (next to Monarchs Locker Room). Admittance/space is limited to working media members with credentials only. The press room will open two hours before the game and will remain open throughout the game until the last working media member has finished his/her gamenight duties. The professional intent of the press room is to provide a meeting and working place for writers, reporters, broadcasters and game personnel. Family members and guests will not be admitted in the press room. Any abuse of the press room and/or press privileges will result in forfeiture of your press pass. Television monitors, telephones and workspace will be provided in the press room.

LOCKER ROOMS

The Monarchs locker room is located on the Operations Level, East side of the Arena (under section 121). The visitors locker room is located on the Operations Level, West side of the Arena (under section 108). In accordance with WNBA policy, both locker rooms are open for a 30-minute period ending one hour prior to the start of the game. Locker rooms re-open to the media after the game no later than 10 minutes following the conclusion of the game and remain open for 30 minutes. Following the 30-minute period, locker rooms close for a 20-30 minute period to allow players to shower and dress. If necessary, the locker rooms may re-open. Only those individuals with prominently displayed credentials will gain admittance into the locker rooms. Your cooperation and courtesy is asked in maintaining a proper working atmosphere for all interviews.

TELEVISION/ RADIO

Television and radio broadcast positions are located along the scorers' table on the North sideline. The Monarchs media relations department will arrange statisticians for all radio and television broadcasters. If statisticians are needed, please contact the media relations department at least 72 hours prior to game time. Once arrangements are made for statisticians, the individual must be paid whether or not they are used. The media relations department will also arrange pregame, halftime and postgame interviews according to WNBA guidelines. Please make arrangements for those interviews as early as possible.

MEDIA SEATING

Reserved media seating has been designated on the scorers' table and behind the team benches. All seats are reserved and marked with place cards for each individual media member. Seating charts are posted at the media check-in desk and in the press room. Individuals are asked to sit in their pre-assigned seats. Electrical outlets and telephones are placed on press row for your convenience. If a media member is in need of an individual phone, please contact the media relations department for assistance. Statistics and out of town scores will be distributed throughout the game.

PHOTOGRAPHERS

Limited designated spaces are available on each baseline for both still photographers and television camera positions. All photographers are required to wear a credential and those without will not be allowed on the Arena floor.

MEDIA PARKING

Media members are asked to enter the Arena parking area via Toll Plaza 9 and park in Lot K.

MEDIA ENTRANCE

The media entrance is located through the security entrance on the Southeast side of the Arena.

SERVICES

A pregame media meal with beverages will be served in the press room. Game notes and GameTime will be available in the press room before the start of the game. In addition, play-by-play sheets, halftime-quarter box scores and postgame quotes and notes will be available in the press room following the game. Box scores and play-by-play sheets will be delivered in a prompt manner to press row at the end of each quarter. Advance game notes will be delivered to the hotel of all visiting media members. In order to provide this service efficiently, we ask that you contact the Monarchs media relations department if you are not staying at the designated team hotel. If there is anything else that we can do to assist your coverage of the Monarchs this WNBA season, please do not hesitate to ask.

HARD-WORKING CUSTOMER SERVICE-DRIVEN FAMILY TAKING MALOOF SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT TO THE UPPER ECHELON OF PROFESSIONAL SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT

In nine years of ownership, the Maloof family has guided the Sacramento Kings and Monarchs as well as ARCO Arena to unparalleled heights. Under the family's leadership, the Kings and Monarchs have advanced to the NBA and WNBA Playoffs, respectively, and produced entertaining basketball that has been seen throughout the world. The Kings have recorded 50-plus regular season victories five times, won back-to-back Pacific Division titles in 2001-02 and 2002-03, and advanced to the 2002 Western Conference Finals. The Monarchs won the 2005 WNBA Championship and were the Western Conference Champions in 2006.

Even more impressive than the company's competitive accomplishments has been Maloof Sports & Entertainment's significant impact within the community. The Maloof family's business philosophy strongly incorporates the idea of making a meaningful difference in the lives of families in need and at risk in the Sacramento region by working to advance the cause of literacy in the region through the donation of Kings Reading and Learning Centers. In just nine years, Maloof Sports & Entertainment has donated and distributed more than $13 million to a variety of charitable needs through cash donations and in-kind gifts.

Each preseason, the Maloofs donate $100,000 in proceeds from a selected Kings exhibition game to assist area capital improvement projects as a tribute to the family's late father and husband under the name of the George J. Maloof Sr. Community Cup. In the past, the annual $100,000 gift has allowed the Sacramento Airport Little League to completely refurbish its little league sports complex, the Sacramento Unified School District to repair a building in downtown Sacramento to house Hemispheres, an after-school visual and performing arts academy, the Sacramento Asian Sports Foundation to bring a Community Cultural and Youth Sports Center to South Sacramento, the St. Patrick's Home for Children to provide clothing and educational resources for the center's children, the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament to make repairs to its structure in downtown Sacramento, the Sacramento Local Conservation Corps to construct a new educational building, and the Kiwanis Family House to provide temporary housing and support to families of seriously ill or injured children and adults being treated at the UC Davis Medical Center. Last year's donation assisted KVIE in promoting the life-long benefits of reading to children throughout the Sacramento region. This season, the annual contribution is going toward the building of the Capital Unity Center.

The family's dedication to community service earned Joe and Gavin Maloof the World Sports Humanitarian Hall of Fame's Most Involved Executives award for 2001. In addition, the organization's work was recognized with the Pro Team Humanitarian Award in both 2002 and 2004.

During the summer of 2005, the Kings, Monarchs, and Maloofs helped lead the charge in Sacramento to assist those affected by the destruction suffered from Hurricane Katrina in the Gulf Coast region. Through on-line auctions, fan, employee, and player donations, and a 100% matching donation from the Maloofs, the organization helped raise nearly $300,000 for those in-need.

Striving toward the goal of providing complete customer and employee satisfaction, Maloof Sports and Entertainment works under the vision statement of "a championship caliber team of people committed to the highest level of performance, service, quality, innovation, community involvement, and winning relationships."

"Our family lives by two Maloof business philosophies: cater to our customers and take care of our employees," states Joe Maloof. "We have a long-term commitment to our fans and employees that make the entire Sacramento community proud to call this organization their own."

The Kings and Maloof Sports & Entertainment continue to explore ways to enhance the entertainment value of the nearly two million guests who annually enter through the ARCO Arena gateways. In the 2000-2001 operating budget, the company earmarked $1 million for training, services, and equipment designed to improve customer service and satisfaction. The investment paid immediate dividends, as the Kings ranked first in the NBA in overall fan experience in 2001 and 2003 in a league-wide survey conducted every other year by J.D. Powers and Associates.

The Maloofs' strong leadership and innovation in the NBA and WNBA was instrumental in spearheading Las Vegas' successful bid to host the 2007 NBA All-Star Weekend. Having also contributed to promoting several other sports besides basketball, including football, soccer, boxing, horse racing, skateboarding, collegiate athletics, and the mixed martial arts, the Maloof family in 2007 was recognized as one of the 100 Most Influential People in the World of Sports by BusinessWeek. This past summer, Joe and Gavin Maloof spearheaded an innovative effort in the world of action sports, developing and hosting the inaugural Maloof Money Cup. The three-day skateboarding championship and action sports lifestyle festival played to sold out crowds at the Orange County Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa, Calif., and was broadcast nationally on CBS.

CELEBRATED RETURN TO PROFESSIONAL SPORTS

The Maloof family's interest in purchasing the Kings, Monarchs, and ARCO Arena originated in 1997 when they contacted then-Managing General Partner Jim Thomas regarding the availability of the teams and arena. On January 14, 1998, the Maloofs completed the purchase of a minority limited partnership in the organization's franchises and ARCO Arena. Although both the Kings and Monarchs suffered through subpar seasons in 1997-98, the Maloofs continued their pursuit of primary ownership and on January 15, 1999, subsequently purchased controlling interest, effective July 1, 1999. The NBA Board of Governors unanimously approved the ownership transfer on May 7, 1999, in New York, at which time the Board of Governors appointed Joe Maloof to the Board. The official closing of the ownership transaction took place on July 1, 1999.

Their purchase of the Kings returned the Maloofs to the NBA after a 17-year absence during which the family eagerly pursued an opportunity to rejoin the league. Owners of the Houston Rockets from 1979 through 1982, the Maloofs watched their Rockets rise to elite status, advancing to the NBA Finals for the first time in the team's history in 1981. In fact, Houston's 1981 Finals appearance coupled with the Kings' advancement to the 2002 Western Conference Finals makes the Maloof family the only ownership group in NBA history to take two different franchises to the Western Conference Finals.

Following the death of their father, George Maloof, Sr., in 1980, Joe and Gavin Maloof, who were only in their mid-20's at the time, took over responsibility for the Rockets along with their mother, Colleen, their two younger brothers, George, Jr. and Phil, and their sister, Adrienne. The added responsibilities of continuing the growth of the family business forced the Maloofs to sell the Rockets in 1982, but George Maloof's original passion for NBA basketball has remained with the family.

"We waited a long time to get back into the NBA. I remember going to the NBA Finals with the Rockets in 1981, and how exciting that was. We have succeeded in bringing that excitement to Sacramento with the Kings and the Monarchs," Gavin Maloof stated.

A 100-YEAR MODEL FOR DIVERSIFIED BUSINESS SUCCESS

The Maloof Companies are a diversified group of business ventures including hotels, casinos, banking, food and beverage, and transportation headquartered in Albuquerque, New Mexico and operated in California, Nevada, New Mexico, and Colorado.

In 1994, the family made a $10 million investment in a small piece of property in North Las Vegas, building the quaint 30,000-square foot, 100-room Fiesta Casino Hotel. After a pair of expansive renovations, the 75,000-square foot Fiesta became one of the most profitable hotel casinos per square foot in the entire state of Nevada. In fact, in an August '99 edition of the USA Today, the Fiesta Casino Hotel was voted one of the world's 10 greatest gambling destinations, ranking with the likes of the Bellagio and Caesars Palace in Las Vegas and the Trump Taj Mahal Casino Resort in Atlantic City.

In July of 2000, the Maloof family sold the operating interest in the Fiesta Hotel Casino for over $185 million. The family immediately re-invested the money into the construction of the Palms, originally a $285 million hotel casino just off the Las Vegas strip which opened for business on November 15, 2001. Having grown to three towers and 1,300 guest rooms (including Palms Place) in just seven years, the Palms features outstanding customer service, unique architecture, and award-winning restaurants, entertainment, nightlife, and amenities, becoming the hottest property in Las Vegas with thousands of visitors daily. Anchored by the 2,500-seat, state-of-the-art Pearl concert theatre, the Palms has become an entertainment hotbed having hosted the 2007 MTV Video Music Awards, several World and US movie premiers (including Oceans 13), and numerous high-profile musical and comedy acts. In 2007, the Palms also served as the participant and entertainer hotel for the NBA All-Star Weekend festivities.

In addition to their gaming business, the Maloofs have exclusive proprietorship rights to the distribution of Coors, Miller, Corona, Heineken, Tecate, Boston Beer, and Guinness products throughout New Mexico. The Maloof Companies also is one of the largest single shareholders in Wells Fargo Bank, which operates banks and branches in 23 states throughout the Western United States with over $200 billion in assets and 15 million customers.

The Maloofs continue to expand their business in the entertainment industry with the development of Maloof Productions and Maloof Music. Maloof Productions is committed to developing and producing quality television and motion picture entertainment. The Maloof Music label debuts as a joint venture with Interscope/Geffen/A&M Records, which is the largest record company in the world under the direction of chairman and legendary music mogul Jimmy Iovine. In fact, Maloof Music is the first joint venture with Interscope/Geffen/A&M without a previous music industry background such as an artist, writer, or producer.

"Our family is extremely excited to broaden our entertainment interests through Maloof Productions and Maloof Music. We look forward to producing quality entertainment in television, motion pictures, and music," states Phil Maloof.

Colleen Maloof serves as Chair of the Board of Directors of the Maloof Companies. Joe Maloof is president of the corporation and oversees the banking and sports and entertainment divisions, while Gavin Maloof is vice chairman, also leading the sports and entertainment daily operation. George Maloof, Jr., is an executive vice president and heads the hotel division, and Adrienne Maloof is the secretary/treasurer of the company. Phil Maloof is an executive vice president and the point person for Maloof Productions and Maloof Music.

The Maloof family history in the United States dates back to 1892 when Joe Maloof I opened a small general store in northern New Mexico. By the 1930's, the Maloof family acquired the distribution rights to Coors Beer and subsequently established Quality Imports, a wholesale fine liquor distribution center, in 1937. When Joe Maloof I suffered a major heart attack in 1944, his son, George J. Maloof, left his studies at the University of Colorado to assume responsibility of the Maloof Companies at the age of 21.

George J. Maloof successfully expanded the family business into a group of diversified companies, moving into the hotel and banking sectors in the 1970's. In 1978, responding to his love for sports and competition, Maloof purchased the majority ownership of the Rockets. However, just two years later during the Rockets' rise to the upper echelon of the NBA, Maloof passed away at the age of 57. His wife, Colleen, assumed control of the entire Maloof operation and rather than selling off the company assets, she enlisted the assistance of her five children. Under Colleen Maloof the family expanded their beer and liquor distribution operations and later opened their first gaming property in 1992. From 1990 to 1992 the family also owned the Birmingham Fire of the World League of American Football.

In the 100-plus years that have defined the Maloof Companies, customer service and a strong work ethic combined with energy and vision are the qualities that have built this one-time general store into a business model for diversified success. "From the days of my grandfather's general store to our entire operation now, the Maloof family business philosophy always has been centered around complete customer and employee satisfaction. In Sacramento, the fans are our customers and providing a great experience for them is our goal," says Gavin Maloof.

JOE MALOOF

Joseph Maloof is President of the Maloof Companies. Joe's business expertise and leadership qualities have helped enhance and diversify the corporation's growth since his father's death in 1980.

Joe manages the Maloof Companies' nearly 3,500 employees with an open door policy, much like his father did nearly 30 years ago. He also believes in treating customers in a first-class manner and with the utmost respect, and is often seen talking and listening to the fans and customers of the various family businesses.

"My father's business philosophy of taking care of our customers and employees was successful long ago, and all of us in the family have chosen to manage with that same style," states Joe.

His extensive expertise in management, sales, and marketing has been invaluable during the company's expansion into banking, hotels, and gaming over the past 20 years. He currently serves on the Board of the Coors Distributor Council. In May of 1999, he was appointed to the NBA Board of Governors by Commissioner David Stern after the Maloof family was unanimously approved by the Board to assume controlling interest of the Kings.

Like all of his family, Joe's charitable efforts are an important aspect of his personal and professional life. He has assisted countless community service groups through the years, including the Boys Club, the University of New Mexico, the American GI Forum, the Airport Little League, and the League of Latin American Citizens, to name just a few.

He has a passion for competition, stemming from his days as a prep and collegiate athlete. He was MVP of his high school basketball team at Lawrenceville Prep School (Lawrenceville, N.J.), and was a two-time letterwinner as a defensive back at the University of New Mexico, where he graduated in 1979 with a degree in business.

Joe resides in Sacramento less than two miles from ARCO Arena. He enjoys working out and is an avid tennis player.

GAVIN MALOOF

As Vice Chairman of Maloof Companies, Gavin Maloof assists in all aspects of the family's diversified business ventures while overseeing the company's sports and entertainment operation. He is dedicated to maintaining and building the corporation's national and international prominence and spearheading a new era of growth for the company.

Although Gavin is relatively young in terms of professional sports and entertainment ownership, his experience is extensive. Following the death of his father, George J. Maloof, Sr., in 1980, Gavin was named president of the Houston Rockets at the age of 24, making him the youngest owner and operator in major professional sports history. The Rockets enjoyed immediate success under Gavin's leadership, advancing to the NBA Finals for the first time in franchise history in 1981. With the likes of Moses Malone, Calvin Murphy, and Elvin Hayes, the Rockets qualified for postseason play in all three seasons under the Maloof family ownership.

In addition to his front office management with the Rockets, Gavin also served as team president during the Maloof's tenure as owners of the Birmingham Fire of the World League of American Football (WLAF) from 1990-92.

Gavin has always placed an importance on his community service work. Over the years he has served on the board of directors for several charitable causes, including those focusing on the well-being of children.

An active sports fan and participant, Gavin was an outstanding football player at the New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, N.M., and at Trinity University in San Antonio. He graduated from Trinity in 1979 with a speech and communications degree. Last year he was inducted into the New Mexico Military Institute Hall of Fame as one of the school's most successful graduates, an honor bestowed on only a handful of people in the school's long history.

Gavin resides in Sacramento less than two miles from ARCO Arena. He enjoys playing golf in his spare time.

COLLEEN J. MALOOF
CHAIR OF THE BOARD, MALOOF COMPANIES TRUSTEE FOR THE ESTATE OF GEORGE J. MALOOF

Colleen J. Maloof is Chair of the Board of the Maloof Companies and trustee for the estate of George J. Maloof. Throughout the key years that George Maloof built the Maloof Companies into the largest group of family-owned enterprises in New Mexico, Colleen was an instrumental partner in their prosperity. Faced with the challenge of carrying on the family tradition of success after her husband's passing, she has grown the Maloof Companies as never before.

Colleen Maloof is a major force behind the family's continued strength and the Maloof's corporate and civic leadership. She is a leader in her community and has received a number of honors and awards, including the Associated Students of University of New Mexico Award for Dedication and Service, Mexican-American Foundation of America Women of the Year Award, and the Image de Albuquerque Award, which was presented to the Maloof family for their significant contributions to Hispanic business development.

Colleen has played a pivotal role in developing the "Maloof style" managerial skills of her children, Joe, Gavin, George Jr., Phil, and Adrienne. She has worked to ensure that company policies and practices remain true to the family motto, "The Customer is King."

GEORGE J. MALOOF, JR.

Adhering to his father's policy of learning the family business "from the ground up," George J. Maloof, Jr. has successfully established himself as an innovator in the hotel and gaming industries.

George is the leading force behind the building and operation of the hottest property in Las Vegas, the Palms, which is owned by the Maloof family, and has become one of the most sought-after destinations in the entertainment capital of the world.

As President of Maloof Hotels since 1989, George has overseen the operation of hotels throughout the Southwest and California, including the Fiesta Casino Hotel in Las Vegas, the Central Palace Casino in Central City, Colorado, and the Palms. George has very strong ties to the Las Vegas community. He is a UNLV alumnus, where he received his bachelor's degree in business administration (hotel management) in 1987.

In addition to his work in the gaming industry, George is also a member of the Patriarchal Order of the Holy Cross of Jerusalem and the Las Vegas Chapter of Legatus.

MALOOF FAMILY

ADRIENNE MALOOF-NASSIF

Whether it's marketing, fashion design, promotion, or politics, Adrienne Maloof-Nassif is involved in all aspects as well as the overall leadership of the Maloof Companies.

Adrienne's marketing and promotional contributions have been invaluable in the Sacramento Kings becoming one of the most recognizable franchises in all of professional sports. In addition, her lifelong interest in competitive professional dancing has allowed her to lend her expertise to the Kings' widely popular dance team.

Philanthropic work also is a personal passion for Adrienne. Because of her love and concern for animals and children, Adrienne has joined forces with the Sacramento SPCA to serve as an honorary spokesperson. Her financial contributions allowed the SPCA to complete a new shelter in February of 2002 and develop the Adrienne Maloof Camp Kindness program, which allows underprivileged youth to learn the proper care and handling of animals. Her Camp Kindness program was so successful in Sacramento that she is currently in the process of developing a similar program for the Los Angeles SPCA.

Growing up in Albuquerque, New Mexico, she was one of the country's top ranked junior tennis players and went on to play collegiate tennis at the University of New Mexico, where she earned a bachelor's degree in political science.

Adrienne resides in Los Angeles with her husband Paul and their three children.

PHIL MALOOF

Phil Maloof is an executive vice president with Maloof Companies and the point person for the family's newest business ventures, Maloof Productions and Maloof Music.

A former senator for the state of New Mexico, Phil was one of the youngest elected officials in the country, appointed to the New Mexico State Senate following the election of Mayor Martin Chavez, and subsequently re-elected to a full four-year term from his west Albuquerque district in 1996, before running for U.S. Congress in 2000.

Phil was known for his tough stance on crime while representing New Mexico, becoming the first state senator in the country to sponsor the Three Strikes, You're Out law, in addition to helping pass several bills aimed at improving school funding.

An outstanding all-around athlete, Phil played quarterback collegiately at New Mexico State, before earning his post-secondary degree from the University of New Mexico.

Phil resides in Las Vegas and also has a home in Los Angeles, where he works to develop Maloof Productions and the Maloof Music label. In addition, he assists in the other Maloof family businesses, including the Sacramento Kings and the Palms hotel and casino property. He enjoys playing basketball and traveling in his spare time.

JOHN WHISENANT
GENERAL MANAGER

John Whisenant returns to the Monarchs for his sixth season as General Manager in 2009 after spending one WNBA season as Assistant General Manager under then-GM Jerry Reynolds and three and a half seasons as Head Coach of the franchise.

Midway through the 2003 WNBA season, Whisenant added the title of Head Coach to his Assistant General Manager duties for the Sacramento Monarchs. He finished the season with an impressive 12-4 (75%) regular season record and led the Monarchs to the WNBA Western Conference Finals for the second time in franchise history. In 2004, Whisenant led the Monarchs to the WNBA Western Conference Finals for their second consecutive appearance (third in franchise history) as they finished the year with an 18-16 regular season record. In 2005, Whisenant guided the Monarchs to their first ever WNBA Championship and finished the regular season with a franchise-best 25-9 record (73.5%). He was recognized for his efforts by being named the 2005 WNBA Coach of the Year, as selected by a national panel of broadcasters and sportswriters. In 2006, Whisenant led the team to their second consecutive Western Conference Championship and WNBA Finals appearance. The team finished the regular season with a record of 21-13 (61.9%). His overall record with the Monarchs is 76-42 (64%) and his playoff record is 19-10 (66%). Combined, Whisenant's overall coaching record sits at 95-52 (65%), setting the best record in the WNBA from 2003 to 2006.

Whisenant brings more than 30 years of basketball experience to the Sacramento Monarchs. He delivers a passion for basketball and the knowledge necessary to help the Monarchs reach the next level of excellence.

Whisenant began his basketball career at Connors State College in Warner, Oklahoma (averaged 20.5 ppg) while hitting and leading in baseball with a .377 batting average. He then continued on to New Mexico to play as a starting guard for the Aggies under Coach Fresley Askew. Nicknamed "Whiz," he was NMSU's second leading scorer in his senior season with an average of 13.1 points per game.

Upon completion of his playing days, Whisenant immediately went into coaching at Coffeyville Community Junior College (Kan.). While he was an assistant at Coffeyville for two years, the Red Ravens were 48-10 (83%).

Next, Whisenant spent four years as Head Coach at Arizona Western (Yuma) where his teams won three league championships and also went to nationals all three of those years. His overall record was an impressive 97-30 (76%) and his 1972 squad finished third nationally with a 35-3 record.

After Arizona Western, Whisenant joined the staff of former New Mexico Lobo Coach Norm Ellenberger as Assistant Head Basketball Coach. During his seven years there, the Lobos posted a 137-62 (69%) record which included two WAC Championships and four post-season appearances. The 1977-78 team ended the season leading the country in scoring and was ranked third nationally.

Following his coaching days with the Lobos, Whisenant has gone on to become a successful businessman with interests in commercial real estate, home construction and horse racing. He also worked as a consultant to the Maloof family, advising them on their acquisition of the Sacramento Kings. Whisenant kept his passion for basketball burning, serving as Head Coach of his son's AAU team in Albuquerque, N.M. Even at the AAU level, Whisenant dominated – his team won 176 of 192 games (92%) including six state and regional championships. In 1995, his team won the BCI National Championship and followed that success by finishing fifth in 1996 and third in 1997. In 1999, Whisenant became involved in the new AAA Pro League with the IBL/CBA League as Vice President of Basketball and Head Coach of the New Mexico Slam, posting a 51-35 (60%) overall record over one and a half seasons. In the league's only full season, the Slam finished second, only a half game behind St. Louis (40-22), at 39-23. This league was a forerunner to the current NBA D-League.

A native of Gore, Okla., Whisenant is married to Joyce (Mowery) Whisenant, a former women's basketball player. They have five children: Stan (a doctor and former University of New Mexico basketball player), Daniel (a major and former Air Force Academy basketball player), Johnette, (former women's basketball player and current girls' middle school basketball coach), Justin (former Dartmouth College football and basketball player, a UT doctor and radiology resident) and Jordyn (former women's basketball player and current UNM law school student).

Whisenant holds a Bachelor of Science degree in physical education from New Mexico State and an MA in history from Kansas State University (Pittsburg, Kan.).

The latest in digital technology, the video board offers greater viewing angles and a clearer picture.

LIGHTING AND VIDEO PROJECTION

Joe and Gavin Maloof invested more than half a million dollars into a new lighting and video projection system that debuted during the Kings 2008-09 home opener. The Maloof family made this significant investment to enhance the entertainment value of Kings and Monarchs games for the teams' loyal fans. Maloof Sports & Entertainment is the only organization in the Western Conference of the National Basketball Association using this system. The system features two types of lighting instruments — one that can project full motion and real-time video on any surface (such as the court), and one designed specifically to cut through ambient and bright light, so fans can still see moving light even when the lights are up.

Ten months after the groundbreaking ceremonies on February 23, 2000, the Kings held their first practice in the facility on December 26, 2000. DPR Construction (Sacramento) was contracted to build the facility that Boora Architects (Portland) had designed.

The facility includes a number of first-class amenities. KRISTA BLUNK
COLOR ANALYST

Krista Blunk returns for her 13th season as the color analyst for the Monarchs broadcasts. Her first season with the Monarchs was in 1997, which also marks the first WNBA season. Since joining the Monarchs 13 seasons ago, Blunk has Co-Hosted "Monarchs Talk" on Sports 1140 AM KHTK and has been a WNBA Playoffs analyst for both NBA TV and Oxygen.

In addition to working with the Monarchs, Blunk was a sideline reporter in the Fall of 2007 with Versus, covering NCAA football. She also contracted with ESPN, doing play-by-play and color analysis for NCAA volleyball and men's and women's NCAA basketball.

Blunk has spent the last ten seasons as an analyst and reporter for the women's NCAA basketball Tournament with ESPN, Westwood One and NCAA Productions. She has also worked as an analyst and play-by-play announcer with ESPN, Fox Sports Net, Comcast SportsNet, the Mountain West Conference and CSTV, for men's and women's basketball, volleyball, soccer and softball regular season and NCAA Tournament coverage. Additionally, during the 2006-07 season, she was an analyst for the Kings House Party Live on Comcast SportsNet.

Blunk got her start in California as the radio and television analyst for the San Jose Lasers of the American Basketball League (1997-99) and as the television analyst for the Stanford Women's Basketball team (1997-99). Before moving to California, she anchored at the Evansville, Indiana, FOX Affiliate in 1996 and produced and broadcasted for local stations WEVV-TSN (Fox affiliate) and WFIE-TV (NBC affiliate).

Blunk graduated with honors in telecommunications/public relations in 1993 at the University of Evansville where she was a four-year starter on the basketball team. As a senior, she was named the NCAA "Sportswoman of the Year" for her athletic and academic achievements. Blunk also played professionally for two seasons with the Kentucky Marauders of the Women's Basketball Association (1996) and in Australia (1994-95). In 2004, Blunk, a three-sport athlete and four-year letter winner at Tell City High School, was inducted into the Tell City High School Hall of Fame.

MALOOF SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT BROADCASTING

Monarchs fans this season will be able to view more than 90 percent of the team's 2009 games through an innovative new platform called WNBA LiveAccess, which will webcast games on SacramentoMonarchs.com.

This innovative approach will make it possible to webcast 31 Sacramento Monarchs games this season and will replace the eight local television broadcasts available in most recent seasons.

The Monarchs, along with many other WNBA teams, will utilize TriCaster, a portable live production and virtual set system, to stream all home games at ARCO Arena to a worldwide audience. The TriCaster technology used to create the live webcasts has already been proven in the NBA Development League the last two seasons, and provides a quality viewing experience by using existing cameras in the arena.

WNBA.com will webcast more than 200 games via WNBA LiveAccess during the 2009 WNBA season. This comprehensive slate of webcasts complements national TV coverage of up to 29 games on ESPN2 and ABC and another 50 games on NBA TV. Some blackouts of live games will apply. All of the WNBA LiveAccess games will then be archived for on-demand viewing.
